FROM FATHER'S DESK

Father Nathaniel Meyers

This coming Tuesday marks Valentine's Day, a time in which the culture celebrates romantic love through a wide variety of means, whether going out for a nice dinner or gifting a loved one chocolates or exchanging cards. Romance is a powerful thing and has a long history in art and literature because stories and demonstrations of romantic love seem to find new and eager audiences with each passing generation. Stories of men and women overcoming differences or forces that would separate them have an eternal appeal, but I've noticed that the love stories that we treasure the most and that evoke the strongest emotional response are the ones that actually do not end with the couple living happily ever after.

Romeo and Juliet, The Hunchback of Notre Dame, Wuthering Heights, and even Titanic all end with a tragedy that involves with one of the people involved in the love story dying. Yet, despite these tragic overtones to such tales, these kinds of love stories are the ones that endure—sometimes even for multiple centuries! Intuitively, these love stories understand that love cannot exist without sacrifice and, in dramatic fashion, they show the ultimate sacrifice of one person dying for the sake of love. Audiences recognize that such love is aspirational, the kind of love we would like to have for our beloved and would hope to receive from them as well. As Valentine's Day rolls around this year, it's a perfect time to ask if we are living and practicing this kind of love.

Romance, as powerful as it can be on its own, pails in comparison to another, higher form of love: charity. Charity is not about making a financial gift to an organization or helping an elderly neighbor shovel his driveway, though it certainly can manifest itself in such actions; instead, charity is about making a sacrifice of ourselves for the good of another. As various Valentine's Day celebrations occur this year, let us all remember to use those romantic expressions as a means to a great end, namely to love one another with the same self-sacrificing love that Christ shows us on the cross. For the ultimate love story is not found in books or plays or movies, but on Calvary Hill.

In Christ,
Fr. Meyers

UPCOMING FEAST DAY FOR LOCAL MARTYR

Blessed James Alfred Miller | February 13th

Blessed Brother James Miller was born September 21, 1944, in Wisconsin. Ordained to the Lasallian Christian Brothers in 1969, his first assignment was as a teacher at Cretin High School in St. Paul, Minnesota. Despite his success at Cretin, his deepest desire was to serve the poorest of the poor as a missionary educator. Eventually the Lasallians sent him to Nicaragua where he served for 19 years. During his time in the country, he supervised the construction of ten new rural schools. In 1979, when the Sandinistas revolution began in Nicaragua, the Lasallians recalled him to the United States for his own safety.

He returned to Cretin High School as a teacher but longed to go back to the mission field. In 1981 his order sent him to Guatemala where he taught at a Lasallian Brothers school in Huehuetenango. On the afternoon of February 13, 1982, while out fixing a school fence post, Brother James Miller was murdered. He was shot several times by three men in broad daylight. His assassins were never caught. In 2018, Pope Francis approved a decree recognizing Brother Miller as a martyr.

©LPi

Brother James Miller's feast day is February 13th, and the Archdiocese of St. Paul has been given Vatican permission to observe it locally.
